Q&A

What types of development does RDA hope to spur around existing South Shore stations? How will this process unfold?

West Lake and double tracking should generate about $2.5 billion in investment, more than $2 billion of which will be private investment. This will include residential commercial and professional development, much if not all of which will be transit-oriented development designed to take advantage of the proximity to transit.

But the exact shape such development takes will be up to individual communities. We want each community to have the kind of development it wants as much as possible in terms of design and density and location and other factors.
